DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
2. Claims 1-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
In claim 1, it is unclear if component (B) is a reaction product of an acidic ester of polyphosphoric acid and (b1) at least one compound containing a least one hydroxyl groups and at least one groups that can be activated with actinic radiation or if component (B) comprises two components, i.e., the acidic polyphosphoric acid and (b1). Clarification is requested.
In claim 1, it is unclear if component (C) is a reaction product of an acidic ester of monophosphoric acid and (c1) at least one compound containing a least one hydroxyl groups and at least one groups that can be activated with actinic radiation or if component (C) comprises two components, i.e., the acidic polyphosphoric acid and (c1). Clarification is requested.
In claim 1, it is unclear if component (A) is at least one compound selected from a low molecular weight actinic activated oligomer, a low molecular weight actinic activated polymer, an air-drying alkyd resin, or an oxidatively drying alkyd resin. Or if (A) is selected from a low molecular weight actinic activated oligomer with air-drying and oxidatively drying alkyl resin or a low molecular weight actinic activated polymer with air-drying and oxidatively drying alkyl resin.
Additionally, it is unclear is the air drying resin and oxidatively drying resin is one compound, i.e. one compound having air-drying functionality and oxidatively drying functionality in the same compound, or are they two separate compounds, i.e., one air-drying and one oxidatively drying.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. JP 08-060048 to Tanaka et al sets forth a ink coating composition comprising a monophosphoric ester that is the reaction product of a hydroxyalkyl (meth) acrylate compound and phosphoric acid compound, a polyphosphoric ester that is the reaction product of a hydroxyalkyl (meth) acrylate compound and polyphosphoric acid compound, a pigment, a resin component that can be chosen from resins such as an long oil alkyd resin, an acrylic resin, or a polyurethane resin, and an curing agent for said resin, such as a photoinitiator or thermal catalyst. Additionally said coating can comprise fillers and adhesion-promoting agents for said pigments and/or fillers. It is additionally disclosed that water can be used as a solvent. When this is chosen it is believed a water-in-oil emulsion will form since the resin component would be considered the oil phase. The reference is silent with regard to the pH. Tanaka et al sets forth milling of the pigment and the phosphoric acid ester compounds and then adding then the to the coating vehicle. It is disclosed that said phosphoric esters help with the pigment dispersibility in the coating composition.

US 5,151,125 to Kuwajima et al sets forth an aqueous coating composition comprising an acrylic resin having phosphate groups and a pigment. Said coating can additionally comprise film-forming resins, such as alkyd resins and polyurethane resins and curing agents, as well as conventional additives. Kuwajima et al is silent with regard to the pH.

Please note that these references may be combined for a rejection once applicant clarifies the 112, 2nd paragraph issues above if deemed readable on the claimed subject matter.
